MEDICAL CROOK TERM AT ELMIRA

Man Who Posed as Physician James J. McCarthy Found and and Robbed Friends Confesses Crimes in Court.

WAS TOO PROUD TO BEG

Wanted to Return to Germany, but Judge Whitman Was Unsympathetic.

"Dr." Fred Mandow, allas Mandowsky eliae Mendel, the "medical Raffles," who was run to earth through the exposures in The Evening World, was to-day sent to Elmira Reformatory. Sene was passed by Judge Charles S. finally landing the man whom the po Whitman, who had suspended sentence en a previous eccasion when Mandow

Assistant District Attorney Marshall said that twenty-five of the pawntickets from the bunch handed to the police by The Evening World had been traced, and five pawnbrokers were in court with life articles-rings, phonographs, mu-sical instruments, and such. "Dr. Raffles"—as he was known from his pose as a hospital surgeon—ad mitted stealing each article and pawn-

"How long have you been here?"

"Bight months," said Mendel-Mandow.

"Bave you any friends?"

"These are all my friends?"

"These are all my friends," said the prisoner, waving to the group of complainants who had come to testify about alis stealing after working into their friendship.

"And you stole from your friends?"

"Yes. I was too proud to beg from them or tell them I was starving, so I stole. If you let me go I can get a job as waiter on a Hamburg-American liner. I came here to study because I heard knowledge was free here. I am willing to return to Germany."

As the huge bale of pawntickets found after Mandow robbed one friend showed his thefts to be wholesale, the Judge ordered him imprisoned in Elmira, the minimum time being fourteen months.
